Hillcrest Baptist Medical Center (HBMC), Waco's Level II trauma center and neonatal intensive care unit, have completed construction of a fully-accredited, 236-bed acute care facility on a 74-acre campus at the Legends Crossing development at Interstate 35 and Loop 340. The new $185 million campus, the largest single investment in McLennan County history, opened April 1, 2009. It is approximately 500,000 square feet and includes a women's and children's hospital and healthcare center.

Hillcrest's 12 clinics are neighborhood-based, so that medical care is available where it is needed. Primary care clinics are also the gateway to more than 30 medical specialists, though the support of HBMC.

HBMC is jointly operated by Scott & White Healthcare and Hillcrest Health System. As a "community-owned" health care organization, Hillcrest puts all profits back into the local community by providing services such as new cardiology equipment. No individual shareholder or corporation makes any profit. A local board of trustees, made up of community members, serves without pay and manages Hillcrest operations.

HBMC is 5th highest employer in Waco with approximately 1,500 employees.

Providence Health Care campus includes a 214-bed, acute-care hospital, an Ambulatory Service Building for outpatient procedures and the MRI Center at Providence and Providence Clinic-FamilyMedicine Center, a primary care facility. The new Providence Park, five-story addition at the front of the hospital has changed the face of Providence, and expansion to the rear of the hospital has significantly increased Emergency Department capability. Known as the Heart Hospital, Providence has a strong emphasis on cardiac diagnosis and treatment and a cardiopulmonary rehabilitation center.

Providence Healthcare Network, founded in 1904 by the Daughters of Charity, has recently completed a $48.5 million expansion that increased its service throughout the health center.

Providence Healthcare Network consists of Providence Health Care, Providence Home Care, De Paul Center, the new Providence Park, Providence Clinics, Providence Foundation, and Providence Health Alliance. Providing a full range of care including: outpatient care, inpatient care, emergency service, long-term care, mental health care, chemical dependency treatment, child care and senior adult care service and more.

Providence was named in 2009 a national Top 100 Hospital for overall care, has three times been named a Top 100 Heart Hospital, and has been recognized by CareScience as a recipient of the Select Practice National Quality Leader Award placing Providence in the top two percent of the hospitals in the nation.

Providence Health Center is listed 3rd for Waco's major employers with 2,500 employees, with eight clinics throughout the area.
